Community Profile

General

The City of Holton is located in Northeast Kansas among rolling hills about 2 north of the state capitol, Topeka on U.S 75 Highway, 4 lanes from Topeka Holton. Holton is the county seat of Jackson County with the courthouse serving the center of the square downtown business district.

Today, Holton is a classic midwestern community boasting turn-of-the-century homes with large porches and hand-carved trim. Brick streets lined with stat trees frame a network of neighborhoods within this city of 3,300. Map of the Holton

Government

Holton is a City Manager-Commission form of government with 5 Commissioners elected at large serving 3 year terms. The Mayor is chosen by the Commission after the April election every year. The City of Holton owns its own electric plant and distribution system which supplies electricity for the City and surrounding areas within a 3 mile radius. The current City Manager is Brad Mears.

For more information go to:

History of the City of Holton, Kansas

The Kansas - Nebraska Bill introduced by Stephen A. Douglas and passed by Congress on May 30, 1854, was the impetus which turned Kansas into bleeding Kansas. Pro-slavery and anti-slavery forces merged upon the state to promote their causes and insure the popular decision in their own favor. At Milwaukee, Wisconsin, in May, 1856, a train six covered wagons, each drawn by two yoke of oxen, started the long trek to join those who were coming from the North and East to insure another free state for the union. They were financed by the Kansas Society of Milwaukee which was headed by E. D. Holton, who had raised several hundred dollars for the expedition. E. G. Ross, later senator from Kansas, was the captain of the band, with six in his family. Others were the J. B. Coffin family of four, J. B. Hutte family of four, Mr. Lathrop and family of six, six unmarried men and eight unidentified persons. At Janesville, Wisconsin, they were joined by the Andrew Smith family of five, Mr. Lyme's party of five, another family of Ross consisting of five, making a party of forty-nine persons. They met General James H. Lane with two hundred men at Nebraska City, Nebraska, a rendezvous for Free State men. They followed the Jim Lane Road into Kansas approximately thirty miles. They came to Elk Creek, 2 1/2 miles west of Holton, where they cut timbers to make a bridge, crossed it and made camp where Central School now stands, between 4th and 5th, New Jersey and Ohio Streets. They liked the two streams (later named Banner Creek and Elk Creek) and the pleasant grassy hills, so they decided to stay. A company was organized and a civil engineer who was with them commenced the survey. They named the new town honoring Mr. Holton, the Milwaukee abolitionist, whose only visit to Holton was in 1880 with his wife and son. He died at Savannah, Georgia, in 1892 leaving a $2,000 bequest to Holton.

A log house 20 by 30 feet was erected; it was so planned that it could be used for a fort and was known as Jim Lane's Fort until it was torn down. (This spot is now marked with a commemorative plaque and stone dedicated by the Catholic parish in 1970). The party feared to spend the winter here. They had been warned of the coming of the Kickapoo

Rangers. Lane felt it was unsafe for families so they moved to Topeka for the winter. A man named Wheeler was engaged to make a plot of the town, and a committee was selected to visit the site in December to see if anyone had jumped the townsite. They found everything as they had left it. They soon filed at the Lecompton Land Office.

Holton is located in Jackson County. The county lies 39 degrees 30 minutes north latitude, 94 degrees 40 minutes west longitude, sea level 1,172 feet. Area of the county is 650 square miles or 419,840 acres. Holton's altitude is 1,094 feet. Jackson County has been originally named Calhoun County, honoring John Calhoun, Secretary of War under President Monroe, until 1859, then the name was changed to honor Andrew Jackson. In the spring of 1857, J. B. Ingerson surveyed the townsite lots. The town is in Franklin Township, whose area is six miles by six miles. The township was named for Benjamin Franklin. The people came mainly from Western Pennsylvania, Southern Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, Tennessee, New England, New York, and the so-called western states of the era. Next is the German element and the natives of the British Isles.

W.F. Creitz and brother built the first building, a grocery store, on Park Lot No. 1, now 101 West Fourth. During the summer, T. B. Waters built the first hotel, the Holton House which stood in the center of the block of 400 New York Avenue. Later E. M. Parks put up a house named the Banner Hotel on the corner of 5th and New York Avenue. In 1859 Holton had seven dwellings, one store, a blacksmith shop and a steam saw mill. The census taken in April, 1857, gave Holton 291 people; in 1860 the population was 1,936. Supplies in early years were purchased in Leavenworth and Topeka. Teams of oxen or horses brought the supplies. The first mail came from Grasshopper Falls (Valley Falls) and later from Topeka. N. D. Lewis was the first settler in Franklin township, 4 1/4 miles east of the present Holton.

City Government

In 1859 the city was incorporated by Probate Judge Major Anderson. Dr. James Water was mayor and George L. Hamm, city clerk. The city was incorporated as a city of the third class on July 30, 1870. The first officials included Mayor T.J. Adamson; councilmen Ira I. Taber, Ed Vetter, J. T. Scott and H. P. Bishop; Marshal, R. J. Waterhouse; Police Judge, J. H. Lowell; Attorney, Charles Hayden. It became a second class city by proclamation of the governor on February 3, 1888. The mayor and council form of government continued until 1911 when it was decided to elect the council members instead of appointing them. In 1912 the first election of mayor and commissioners was held. Dr. E. W. Reed served as the first mayor under the mayor-commissioner type government. (see mayors) The first elected commissioner of Public Utilities was A. E. Hosmer, 1912-14, succeeded by Dr. C. W. Thompson. C. D. Bateman was elected first commissioner of Finance, followed by W. V. Baskett. F. H. Woodworth was the second mayor. In 1948 the city adopted the city manager form of government with Virgil Knowl as the first city manager. (see city managers)

Holton was chosen as the county seat in 1858. A frame building served as the first courthouse on the east side of the square, near the middle of the block. The first courthouse built in the center of the square in 1872 cost $23,000, and the present courthouse completed in 1921 cost $300,000.

The first woman city official was Mrs. Ella Brown, attorney, from the faculty of Campbell College, serving as city attorney from 1893 to 1895. The Hook and Ladder Company was organized in 1875. The fire department building in the 200 block of West Fifth was built 1898. The company is still a volunteer group with three engines for town and country use. In 1872 the dog tax was first levied. The city ordinance in 1876 required the walks around the square to be of pine lumber 4 foot wide, to be paid for by owners around the square. Later in 1897 all sidewalks were to be of brick or iron. In 1908 drinking fountain were placed on each corner of the square for man and beast. House numbers were required at this time. In October, 1909, the first sewers were built, and in 1915 the first paved street was started.
